Kastrokofites Kastrokofites (Greek: Καστροκόφτης; English: "Castlekeeper") was a secret society or fraternal association among students at the University of Athens, founded by P. Mitsopoulos in 1884. The society was founded after the Greek Revolution of 1821. It was meant to unite (determine as well as support) the students of the University of Athens in their effort to achieve a Hellenic Republic. The society does not have any official existence or representation. It is not known exactly if the organization still exists. It may have supported the Liberal Party of Greece. The "Book of Kastrokofites" was written in 1885 by its founder, P. Mitsopoulos, who died the same year.
